Chris GRAYLING:

My priorities for Epsom & Ewell, Ashtead, Nork & Tattenhams

Chris Grayling has been a committed and active local MP for the past 14 years, as well as being a prominent member of the Conservative Party nationally. He is currently Lord Chancellor and Secretary of State for Justice, responsible for taking a tougher approach to criminal justice and for reforming rehabilitation.

▶ OYSTER COMES TO EPSOM

Chris has campaigned successfully to get Oyster cards for Epsom. They are due to be introduced in September. He is continuing the campaign to get Epsom station included in Zone 6, like Epsom Downs and Tattenham Corner stations.

▲ FIGHTING FOR EPSOM HOSPITAL

Chris has continued to fight to keep services at Epsom Hospital. He ran a successful campaign to get Epsom withdrawn from the Better Services Better Value programme which would have meant services being transferred to St George's in Tooting. The campaign included running an unofficial ballot of local GPs; this highlighted the majority were opposed to proposed changes.

◀ TACKLING LEVEL CROSSING FRUSTRATION

Chris has helped secure agreement from Network Rail to bring forward the complete modernisation of the level crossing in Ashtead, after a series of breakdowns left residents stranded for hours at a time. Chris has been in regular contact with residents about the issue.

◀ EPSOM & EWELL BUSINESS AWARDS

Chris set up the successful Epsom & Ewell Business Awards to help local businesses coming out of a difficult economic period. The Awards are now a popular local annual event, attracting large numbers of entries. The most recent overall winner was Spring Electrical in Ewell.

▲ KEEPING THE CHARACTER OF OUR AREA

Chris regularly supports local residents resisting inappropriate development. He was part of the Save Epsom campaign working to secure changes to the planning approach for Epsom Town Centre. "This is an area which is in danger from inappropriate development, and that must not be allowed, if we can possibly stop it," he says. "The mistakes of the development around Epsom Station must never be permitted to happen again."

▶ SUPPORTING LOCAL CHARITIES

Chris supports a local charity each year, helping it to raise its profile and some funds. In the past two years he has backed The Sunnybank Trust, which helps people with learning disabilities, and Home-Start Epsom, which helps families in difficulties. This year he is supporting My Time, a local charity which supports young carers.
